

About Gmail Labs

Labs are new experimental features in Gmail. They provide additional functionality and can greatly improve the user experience.

Since they're still in the testing and evaluation stage, a lab may disappear, fail, or in time become fully implemented and supported. So don't be surprised if a Lab stops working or becomes unavailable.

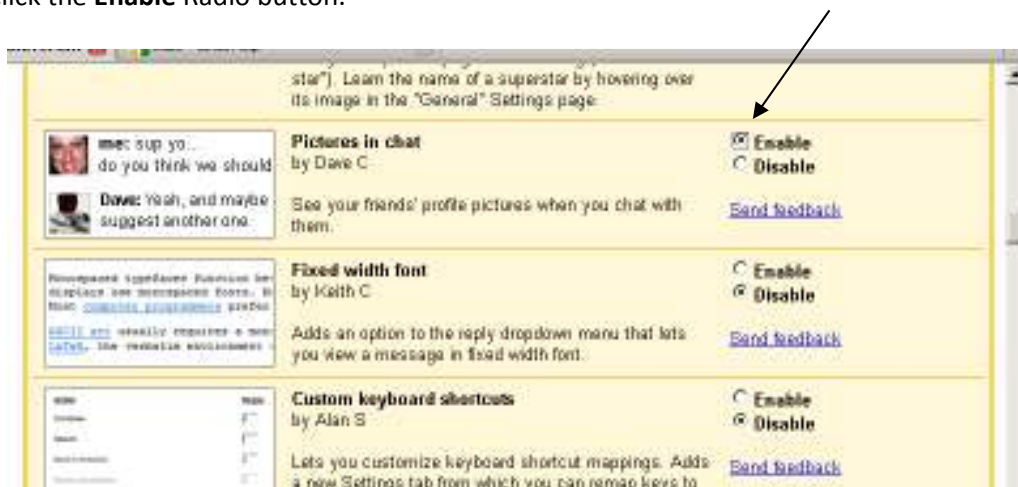

To start using Labs, they must be enabled first.

Enable Labs by clicking on Settings in the Gmail inbox window (top right side of window).

Click on the Labs Tab.

The page provides a description of each Lab. Read the description and if you'd like to use it, click the Enable Radio button.

When you have finished making your selections, click the Save Changes button at the bottom of the page.

When you return to the inbox window, you'll see a green Lab bottle icon next to Settings. You can now use this icon to navigate quickly to your Labs window, and your Labs will be available for you to use.

For more information about Labs, visit the Gmail Help Labs page.