

How do I login to my new Gmail account?

To start using Webmail powered by Google (Gapps for Education Edition), you need to do a couple of things:

1. Find your new email user name

Log into BannerWeb. Click on the Personal Information link. Click on View E-mail Address(es) Your new email address is listed under Campus Email Address, Preferred

2. Know your new email initial password.

Your initial or default Gmail password is your birth date in MMDDYYYY format. This password must be changed when you login the first time.

3. Login to Gmail, change your password, type the security code, and accept the terms and conditions of service.

Log into your new Gmail account by opening your browser to <http://webmail.ltu.edu>

Login using your new email user name and your initial (default) password which is your 8-digit birth date in MMDDYYYY format.

On the next screen, create a new password, select the language, type the text shown in the security image in the input box, read the terms and conditions, and then click "I accept. Create my account button."

For your own security, create a password that's hard to guess. The password strength indicator will be completely green if you choose a strong password.
