NEW EMAIL SYSTEM COMING SOON!!

We're pleased to announce that Lawrence Tech is partnering with Google to bring you a new email system. This summer, Lawrence Tech will implement Google Apps for Education (Gapps), a suite of collaboration tools including email, shared calendars, chat, document sharing, and more. There are lots of advantages to using Gapps. Here are just a few:

- Access email from anywhere with an Internet connection
- Store up to 7 GBs of mail
- Easily share multiple calendars
- Google search technology is built in
- Improved spam blocking
- And much more

In the very near future Lawrence Tech will begin migrating email accounts to Gapps. During the summer, email will be delivered to both Gapps and to our existing mail server (Communigate). This will give users time to familiarize themselves with Gapps.

Account migration will be done by department. A migration schedule will be available soon. IT Services staff will work closely with users to address any issues concerning this transition.

By Fall 2009, our old mail server will be retired and all mail will be delivered to Gapps. We know that you'll enjoy the improved performance, reliability, and exciting new features that Gapps provides. You can start learning more about Gapps now at

Further information and instructions will be coming soon. Please watch this space!
